

Storm Damage Relief for Farmers and Ranchers

Farmers and ranchers who have experienced damage from recent storms in Western Washington have a number of options for disaster relief. Local County Emergency Management is the first point of contact. However, private organizations, state and federal agencies also may be of assistance. Please report agricultural damage to your local Farm Service Agency office.

The Farm Service Agency has four programs that may be of assistance:

1. Emergency Loans (provides low-interest loans)
2. Emergency Conservation Program (provides cost-share for debris removal, repair of fences and other conservation practices)
3. Non-Insured Crop Disaster Assistance Program (similar to crop insurance for crops in which insurance is unavailable.)
4. Disaster Assistance Programs (includes Crop Disaster (CDP), Livestock Indemnity (LIP) and Livestock Compensation Programs (LCP).)

Currently, Grays Harbor, Lewis, Mason, Pacific and Thurston counties have received a Presidential Disaster Designation, which makes farmers in those, and adjacent counties, potentially eligible for Emergency Loans. More counties may be designated as damage assessments are made.

Update 12/18/07 - A Presidential Disaster Designation for northern Oregon counties makes the Emergency Loan program available in Clark County. Westside counties covered by Presidential Disaster Designations to date include: Clark, Cowlitz, Grays Harbor, Jefferson, Lewis, Mason, Pacific, Pierce, Skamania, Thurston and Yakima. Still being evaluated are Kitsap and Wahkiakum.

FSA anticipates requests for the Emergency Conservation Program in Grays Harbor, Kitsap, Lewis, Mason, Pacific, Thurston and Wahkiakum.

Contact your local FSA office to apply or for additional information about these programs in your area.
