

AMD POLICY LETTER 07-002

When performing a technical evaluation of a competitive acquisition, the technical review team shall be given the cost proposals to review in addition to the technical proposals. The pricing strategy and level may provide important information to the technical review team concerning the ability of the offeror to perform the contract.