

Women, Land & Legacy
Jones & Delaware Counties

LISTENING TO WOMEN TO CONNECT THEM WITH RESOURCES FOR MAKING INFORMED DECISIONS FOR THEIR LAND AND COMMUNITIES

WE WANT YOUR INPUT!

Women, Land and Legacy will be hosting two Listening Sessions to head start a dual chapter for Jones and Delaware counties. A light meal will be provided at each session while we will sit down and collaborate on the educational needs of women in our communities. Our Vision with Women Land and Legacy is to build networks of confident women to share knowledge and to create a legacy of stewardship, to provide education, field days, and resources to women.

PLEASE JOIN US AND SHARE YOUR VOICE!

CALLING
ALL WOMEN!

Women, Land, & Legacy (WLL) is a bottom-up, locally led USDA education and outreach program. WLL empowers women landowners and farmers to be agents of positive change in their communities through active participation, educational sessions, and networking opportunities. WLL provides participants opportunities to inform agencies what their needs are and bridges partnerships between government, non-profit organizations, faith based, and community groups. Partners provide local, relevant information, speakers, and resources to local women so they can make the best farming and conservation decisions for their land.
